

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

SHIP-OWNERS' SOCIETY.

Frederick's Place, London, 12th Nov. 1817.

MASTERS of Merchant Vessels, provided with the CODE OF SIGNALS by Captain Marryat, R. N. are requested, upon arrival in the Downs, or at any Port or Place of general Rendezvous, to make their Number, (corresponding with the name of their Vessel, which will be found in the Third Part of the Code,) and to continue the same (if all well) every day, from twelve till one o'clock, during their detention; in order that the Agent for Lloyd's may have a daily account of the situation and proceedings of the Shipping, for the general information of the Owners and Underwriters.

When the Signal is intended for the Agent for Lloyd's, the Union Jack should be hoisted at the Main, as a preparatory notice.

The Signal of the Agent for Lloyd's will be kept flying at Southend, Deal; it is a White Flag, lettered "LLOYD'S:" and other Agents, who may think proper to establish a Signal-post, are recommended to adopt the same Flag.

NOTE TO THE ELEVENTH EDITION.

With the view of rendering this Code of Signals as complete and as perfect as possible, there has been added to the present Edition a plate of the Mercantile Flags of those nations whose Merchant Vessels are more frequently met with at sea; the list of Lighthouses has not only been much enlarged in number, but for the first time it has been rendered still more serviceable by the addition of the description of light, whether fixed or revolving, its latitude and longitude, and the number of miles at which it is visible; and to afford greater facility in reference, the Sentences have been further extended by reduplication.

PREFACE TO THE EIGHTH EDITION.

TWENTY-FOUR years have elapsed since this CODE OF SIGNALS was first introduced into the Merchant Service; that it has proved of great benefit has been sufficiently established by the Reports of the Committee of Lloyd's, the Ship Owners' Society, and the testimony of the Captains of the Vessels who have had it on board. It has also proved valuable as a means of communication with the shore and along the various coasts, and has been established at Canton, Manilla, Batavia, Sincapore, Ceylon, Calcutta, Mauritius, Madras, Bombay, New South Wales, Cape of Good Hope, St. Helena, many of the West India Isles, and indeed in almost every quarter where the British ensign is unfurled. During this long period the Code has been occasionally added to so as not to render it necessary that the purchasers should be put to extra expense by any serious alterations which would have rendered the first Editions useless, but so many errors and imperfections were discovered from time to time by Captains of Vessels in the continued practical application of it, that it has been considered expedient to revise and enlarge the whole Code. There are other reasons which render this necessary; steam-navigation, now so important, was at the time that these Signals were first published, in its infancy, and it was a great desideratum that the use of the Code should be extended to a communication with this branch of navigation. In the present Edition will be found all the sentences considered necessary for this purpose, and in the Vocabulary every separate portion of the steam-machinery has been introduced. Moreover, since emigration has been so general, various ports and harbours which at the time the Code was published had neither an inhabitant nor a name, have now risen into importance, and the Rendezvous part has been increased from hundreds to thousands. Advantage has also been taken of the suggestions made from time to time by the Captains of Vessels, and which have contributed not a little to render the present Edition more useful and complete.

PREFACE.

Objections have been made to the hoisting of four flags, but I find from the Captains of Vessels that the objections are trivial. This is certain, that without a large addition to the flags the combinations could not be made with a less number. No alteration has therefore been made in the flags than as originally arranged, excepting that the second distinguishing pendant has been added to the first, to show the numbers of the vessels of the Mercantile Marine, so greatly increased within the last twenty years; and the fifth part of the former editions, which was designated by the second distinguishing pendant, has been incorporated with the Vocabulary.

The Code still consists as before of six parts:—

1. A list of English Men of War.
2. A list of foreign Men of War.
3. A list of English Merchant Vessels.
4. A list of Lighthouses, Ports, Headlands, Rocks, Shoals, Reefs, &c.

PREFACE.

5. A selection of Sentences.

6. The Vocabulary.

It will also be observed, that every number is omitted in which the same figure occurs twice, as in 101, 556, &c. by which means a substitute flag and pendant are rendered unnecessary. But as substitutes will at times be required, the First and Second Distinguishing Pendants are used for this purpose, the explanation of which is fully given in Plate No. 3.

The flags and pendants used are fifteen, exclusively of the Union Jack, with which every vessel is supposed to be provided, and are exemplified in Plate No. 1. They are as follow :—

The Ten Numerical Flags, which represent the ten figures in arithmetic, and are used throughout the whole Code of Signals.

The Union Jack, which is hoisted over the number of a man of war, in Part the First.

The First and Second Distinguishing Pendants, which are hoisted over the number, or at some other mast head, when the number of a merchantman is shown in Part the Third.

The Rendezvous Flag, which is hoisted over the number of Lighthouses, Ports, Headlands, &c. in Part the Fourth, and occasionally at some other mast head or below the number, as explained at the head of List of Ports, Headlands, &c.

The Telegraph Flag, which is hoisted at some other mast head when the numbers in Part the Sixth are shown.

The Numeral Pendant, which is hoisted over a number when merely the figures are intended to be shown, and is hoisted between the numbers when the latitude or longitude is required.

The Sentences in Part the Fifth have no distinguishing flag, but are represented by the Numerical Flags alone.

It is unnecessary to enter into further detail now that the Signals have been so long in use and are so well understood. One suggestion only is made by the Author to the Captains of Vessels who may provide themselves with this new Edition, which is, that if they will at any leisure hour take the trouble to look over the Sentences in Part V. and the Vocabulary in Part VI. they will become better acquainted with the copiousness of the Code compared to what it before was, and will be able to express their wants or wishes with much more rapidity.

DIRECTIONS

FOR THE

RECOVERY OF THE APPARENTLY DROWNED.

---

CAUTIONS.

Avoid all rough usage.—Never hold the body up by the feet.—Nor roll the body on casks.—Nor rub the body with salt or spirits.—Nor inject tobacco-smoke or infusion of tobacco.

METHODS OF TREATMENT.

I. Support the body carefully, with the head and shoulders in a raised position.

II. Strip the body, and rub it dry; then wrap it in hot blankets, and place it in a warm bed.

III. Wipe and cleanse the mouth and nostrils.

IV. In order to restore the natural warmth of the body,

—Move a heated covered warming-pan over the back and spine.

—Put bladders or bottles of hot water, or heated bricks, to the pit of the stomach, the arm-pits, between the thighs, and to the soles of the feet.

—Foment the body with hot flannels; but, if possible,

—Immerse the body in a warm bath as hot as the hand can bear without pain, as this is preferable to the other means for restoring warmth.

—Rub the body briskly with the hand; do not, however, suspend the use of the other means at the same time.

V. Apply sal volatile or hartshorn to the nostrils.

On restoration to life, if the power of swallowing be returned, small quantities of warm wine or weak brandy and water may be given; the patient should be kept in bed, and a disposition to sleep encouraged. Great care is requisite to maintain the restored vital actions, and at the same time to prevent undue excitement.

This treatment is to be persevered in for three or four hours. It is an erroneous opinion, that persons are irrecoverable because life does not soon make its appearance.

ADVERTISER.

R. S. NEWALL & CO.'S
PATENT WIRE ROPE.

R. S. NEWALL & Co. Sole Patentees of the Improved Wire Rope, beg to call attention to its superiority over Hemp Rope for Standing Rigging.

It is only half the weight, one-sixth part of the bulk, and cheaper than hemp rope; and when once properly set up, it requires no alteration like hemp rope, which slackens in dry weather and gets taugther in wet.

For Lightning Conductors nothing is so good as their Copper Wire Rope, 1½-inch circumference, price 1s. per foot.
